Regimental Army Post
Calumet and Arizona Smelter
Shattuck Smelter
Douglas, Tucson, Phoenix (in chorus) "Gimme some of everything that's going."
General Prosperity (carving) —
"Ahem! Bisbee, will you have some of the breast of Bigger Business?"
Bashful Bisbee?

The question is, will Bisbee ask for what is offered her. In addition to the regimental army post, there is a chance that Bisbee may secure the Calumet and Arizona smelter and the Shattuck smelter. The location of the C. and A. smelter has not been decided upon, nor has the Shattuck Arizona mining company decided to locate its smelter at Douglas or any other point.

The matter of the location of the Calumet and Arizona smelter is at present under consideration. The advantages and disadvantages as between Bisbee and Douglas are being weighed, and should it be decided that Bisbee, or rather Warren, offers better facilities for a smelter location than Douglas, the smelter, with its consequent benefits, will come to the Warren district.

It had been generally thought that the Shattuck company had definitely decided to erect its smelter at Douglas. This is not true. The making of a topographical map of a site at Douglas was merely in the nature of an investigation. In fact, the first site tentatively selected at Douglas has been abandoned and no other site has been selected. The impression that generally prevails, that the smelter plans for Douglas had been definitely and finally decided upon, probably resulted from Douglas newspaper reports, which also published the story that L. C. Shattuck would move to Douglas and erect a $25,000 home there.

That there is an excellent chance that Bisbee will get the Shattuck-Arizona smelter, was the statement made yesterday by Judge J. M. O'Connell, general counsel for the Shattuck-Arizona company. He declared that no decision to build the smelter at Douglas had been decided upon, and that there were several things that favored Bisbee in a comparison of Bisbee and Douglas as probable locations for the smelter.

"How is it that the business men and people of Bisbee do not appreciate the importance of the opportunities offered her, and can sit idly by and wait for them to drop in her lap, I cannot understand," said the president of the board of trade.

At the big mass meeting to be held on the night of December 6, the smelter matter will be brought up and discussed. It is possible that resolutions will be drawn up and passed, asking the two mining companies to consider the Warren district in arriving at a decision as to the location of smelters. Figures are being prepared and will be submitted in proof of Bisbee's availability as a smelting point. Bisbee's road insularity, heretofore a great drawback, will be remedied by the construction of the El Paso and Southwestern extension, which will place Bisbee within nine miles of the main line of the Southwestern system.

The matter of a water supply also, which rendered Bisbee as ineligible for smelting locations, has been solved by finding an ample water supply in the country south of Warren. It is understood that the Shattuck already owns ground in that locality. Judge O'Connell is of the opinion that all that the companies would ask of Bisbee would be a disposition to want the smelter.

Douglas may be a competitor in the fight for the regimental army post, but that place has already been proven as not available by the recent troubles along the international border. It was on account of lack of camping facilities that the place was abandoned by the Sixth Cavalry, and Warren chosen instead. The Warren will be the place from which future patrols are maneuvered is indicated by the fact that maps of the roadways to Douglas and Naco have been made for the Fort Huachuca cavalry.

McFarland-Murphy Bout

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 29.—Interest in the Packy McFarland-Tommy Murphy lightweight contest has lived up to a noticable degree as the date for the encounter approaches and the Coffey pavilion promises to be well filled with ring enthusiasts tomorrow when the two fighters are called into the ring for their twenty-round battle. It will be the first fight of any consequence that the fans of the bay district have been handed out in several months. The fact that McFarland, in the event he wins over Murphy, will be matched to meet Wolfstap for the championship is an early date has served to increase public interest in the bout.

OODS ON THE FORMER*Talent Believes the New York Fighter Is Without a Chance

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—Although local fight followers refuse to concede that Harlem Tommy Murphy will make much of an impression on Packy McFarland's championship aspirations, when the two meet here tomorrow afternoon, they will turn out in big numbers to witness the bout. The New Yorker is practically friendless in the betting. The cancelling of the Wolfstap-Walsh fight at Los Angeles has increased interest in the local event, and many who were considering journeying to the southern city to witness the championship affair will now stay here to see the home attraction.

McFarland said he was very sorry to hear of Wolfstap's misfortune, as he had decided to accept his challenge, and fight him on New Year's day on the coast. "I hope he gets well quick," said McFarland.
